In 2011, Steven Hartono and Olivia Michelle, founded the company to become a catalyst in the jewelry industry and in the world. Olivia, who leads the production and design, has been in the jewelry industry for over a decade with a triple degree from GIA. Steven, who leads the business development, has been in corporate management and has a double degree from UCLA. They take joy in customer service and educating their clients about their Los Angeles made - engagement, bridal and fashion jewelry and they always donate a portion of their profits to a cause - such as ending human trafficking.

Catalyst' vision is to empower people to become that spark of change in the world through the jewelry they wear. By choosing Catalyst for everything jewelry, they join the movement of ethical and socially conscious fashion.
