Documenting couples and their love is my greatest passion and I'm honoured you are considering me to capture yours.

I believe photography is one of the most important decisions when it comes to planning a wedding. When the day is over, your photographs (and your new spouse!) will be the one thing you're left to remember it by.

I work with a photojournalist style, becoming invisible when you need me to and documenting your day as it unfolds with the resulting album in mind.

I love my job, and connecting with amazing people who are just as excited about life and love as I am. I'm sure we'll be firm friends.

I can also do a cracking Harry Potter impersonation on request :)
